VOL 28 BLOOMSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1893. NO. 22

The Public Schools.

PROF. STERNER'S REPORT TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.
May 22nd, 1893.

TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION:

GENTLEMEN, In compliance with your regulations and my custom for the past two years, I herewith present you my report for the school year ending May 17th, 1893:

No. of months in the school term	8
No. of days the schools were open	160
No. of teachers employed	19
No. of schools	15
Total number of pupils enrolled	920
Average attendance of pupils	704
Average percentage of attendance	89
No. of pupils enrolled in High School	109
Percentage of attendance in High School	95
Director's visits	54
Principal's visits	106
Parent's visits	137
Visits of others	300

ENROLLMENT AND ATTENDANCE.

The enrollment this year is nearly a hundred more than that of last year. The attendance was affected by scarlatina, or scarlet fever and other contagious diseases. There was more sickness this year than in the three preceding years together. In one room of 32 pupils, 18 were sick a total of 288 days, and in several other rooms the same ratio can be found by examining the monthly reports. 50 to 100 pupils between 8 and 13 years of age are employed in the mills and factories during the fall and spring. and a few during the whole year. No one but the parents should be held responsible for this open violation of the law and disregard for the rights of their children.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS.

During the year teachers' meetings were held semi-monthly, on Tuesday evening, in the High School Library. But few of the teachers were absent unless for some unavoidable reasons, as sickness, or severity of the weather.

OBJECTS AND AIM OF THE YEAR'S WORK.

At least four weeks before the opening of the schools, I began the preparation of a more complete outline of the course study. I gave each teacher a copy of this elaboration in order that she might more clearly see her field of labor. My aim was to effect a uniformity of work. The teachers in the same grade and supposed to be doing the same work, were, until recently, working independently of each other, of the board and and of the principal. No later than last year teachers in some of the grades took their pupils through textbooks regardless of the pupil's knowledge of the subjects passed over. This year the work has been more completely graded. The objects of my aim at uniform and systematic work, have been attained in part, and in another year the work should be very uniform and systematic.

HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY.

The literary societies of the High School have furnished 75 volumes for the library and the Lyceum society has on hand a fund of $12 by which several more books can be bought.

EXAMINATIONS AND PROMOTIONS.

Nineteen began the senior examination and but 14 passed. Seven hundred and two took part in the final examination. The following table shows the number examined and promoted in the different rooms:

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The commencement was held in the Opera House on Friday evening, May 19, 1893. The class of '93 consisted of nine girls and five boys: J. Grier Quick; Lillie Keller, Kitty Cadow, Julia H. Furman, Mary Morris, Mary Kline, Eura Williams, Clora Kunkle, Lillian V. Roberts, Jennie M. Sutliff completed the Normal Course, and Chas. Kesty, Horace Kramer, Joseph Townsend and Harry Achenbach graduated in the Business Course. The exercises consisted of essays, declamations, orations, recitations, and music under the direction of Prof. H. Butts,. The Opera House was crowded, and several were turned away from the doors.

In conclusion permit me to say that I have made a very earnest effort to improve the schools, and that in nearly all cases I have had the hearty co-operation of the teachers. It has been said that "As the teacher is, so is the school." This is only true in part. Patrons and others may undo or prevent the teacher from doing effective work. At the close of this term, seventeen of the nineteen teachers employed are Normal School graduates. One would infer from this that the work done is of a superior quality. It is very difficult to prevent a good teacher from doing good work, and equally as difficult to lead or train a poor teacher to do good work. The best plan, it seems to me, is to employ good teachers, and leave the poor ones to find employment. I desire most heartily to thank you for your assistance and support.

Very respectfully,
L. P. STERNER.

VAN CAMPEN.

To THE COLUMBIAN.

The Life of Major Moses Van Campen, the great Indian fighter of Columbia County, has been long out of print. The last copy of the work which I saw, an imperfect one at that, was sold for $6.00—and for some years now it has neither been on sale nor in the catalogues. Lately, the author, a very old man, has been revising the work, and has put the manuscript into the hands of John S. Minard, Fillmore, New York, who had also been preparing a new edition. Their combined labors have produced a beautiful and highly interesting volume of over 350 pages, illustrated with a portrait of Van Campen and other matters of local interest.

Several Columbia County families figure in the book, to wit: The McClures, the Salmons, the Boyds, and incidental notices of others. Here we have the builder or defender or both, of Fort McClure, Fort Wheeler, Fort Jenking, Fort Rice, and Fort Muncy. All but the last in our own immediate neighborhood. Here Capt. Salmon and then Lieut. Van Campen contended for the hand of Miss Wheeler, and the Captain beat the Lieutenant, who afterward captured Miss Margaret McClure.

People talk about Daniel Boone of Kentucky, about Francis Marion of South Carolina, but here we have, right at home a scout, indian fighter and warrior as brave as either of them—a man, who more than a hundred years ago made this valley ring with his name, and our mountains echo and re-echo to the crack of his rifle.

I am sure there is not a boy or girl in Columbia county who does not want to read the "Life of Van Campen." He has a personal interest in the story, it belongs to him and he will realize, as he never did before, the dangers and excitement of his grand fathers.

JOHN G. FREEZE.

Bicycling is a pleasant exercise, and has become very popular in Bloomsburg. A large number of wheels are owned here, several of the owners being ladies. Owing to the fact that there are so many, it may be proper at this time to call attention to the rights of pedestrians, as well as those of bicyclers. It has been decided by the courts that wheelmen have the same right in the public road as any other drivers of vehicles. The sidewalk is intended for the use of foot passengers, and if a wheelman should run over or injure a pedestrian on the pavement he would be liable to lose the case in a suit instituted for damages. Several accidents have already occurred, though not of a serious nature, and it would be well to heed this timely warning before something more serious happens.

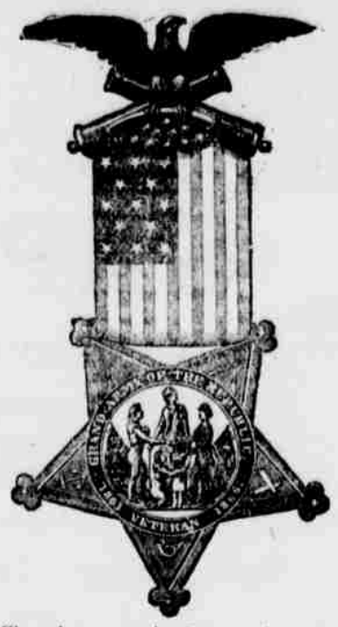
BASE BALL.

There will be two games of base ball at Athletic Park on Decoration Day. In the morning at 10 o'clock the Bloom nine will play the Kingston club, and again at 4 p. m. Admission, gentlemen 25 cents, ladies 15 cents.

"The Haunted Ghost" will appear soon in this paper. Read it.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Program of Exercises in Bloomsburg.



Tuesday next is Decoration Day. As usual the exercises will be under the management of Ent Post G. A. R. The program will be as follows:

At 2:30 P. M. all taking part in the exercises, except the Normal School, will report to the Marshal on Market Square, where the line will form and move up Main Street to the Normal School, where the Philologian and Calliepian Societies will join the line, marching down Main to Centre, up Centre to the Cemetery. Dirge by the Bloomsburg Cornet Band; Ritual Services; Decorating; Philologians and Calliepians will decorate through the Cemetery, assisted by members of Ent Post; also the graves in the circle. Sons of Veterans will decorate in the old grave yard. After decorating, all will return to the circle. The line will form and move to the Court House, where the addresses will be delivered in the following order:

Opening Prayer.
Music by the Y. M. C. A. Choir.
Address by J. B. Robison Esq.
Music.
All ministers invited on the stand.
All places of business will close from 2 to 5 P. M.

M. P. Lutz, Commander of Ent Post, has issued the following:

"As Memorial Day is again near at hand I make this request of the citizens of Bloomsburg, that they join with us in making the day truly a Memorial day. Let the day be given wholly to the services that the memory of the noble dead who gave their lives for the land we love and the liberties we enjoy, may be fittingly observed. Instead of turning the day into an occasion of pleasure and sports, help us to make it what it is intended to be. A day in which we hold communion with our comrades who have gone before and are now answering roll call in that Camp above where God is the Supreme Commander. Let there be a liberal donation of flowers, for each anniversary finds a greater number of graves on which to strew them. All soldiers whether members of the G. A. R. or not are requested to meet at the Post room at 7 o'clock and accompany us to Light Street and Espy."

A FALSE REPORT.

A few days ago a report became current on the street that there were fifteen cases of diphtheria at the Normal School. It was utterly untrue, there not being the slightest foundation for such a report, as there have been no cases of any kind of contagious diseases in the school. People should be very careful not to repeat such reports unless they are very sure of the facts. If any contagious disease should appear in the school the authorities certainly would not attempt to conceal it, and thus endanger the lives of all the students and blast the prospects of the institution. The Trustees and the Faculty would at once adopt every known means of preventing the spread. There has been no diphthteria in the school, and the only thing that even approached a sore throat was a single case of quinzy. The report was apparently made out of the whole cloth, and the school authorities would be glad to know where it originated.

Mr. Niels Lavoids Jinsen Gron will occupy the pulpit in the Lutheran Church next Sabbath morning. In the evening he will deliver his lecture on "SCANDINAVIA BY A SCANDINAVIAN." He comes highly recommended and we can assure the people of a good lecture. All are invited, seats free.

Another business meeting will be held at 2.30 p. m., and at 3 o'clock, papers will be read by Rev. Mr. Snyder of Wellsboro, and Rev. Mr. Heakes of Muncy. At 7.30 p. m there will be evening service, with missionary addresses by Archdeacon Graff, and Revs. Foley and Snyder. The rite of confirmation will be administered by Bishop Rulison.

Wednesday, the 31st, will be Centennial day. It is one hundred years since St. Paul's church was admitted into union with the Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. The morning services will be held at 10 o'clock. The Holy Communion will be administered, and the sermon will be preached by Rev. Thos. H. Cullen, a former rector, now of Freehold, N. J. The evening service at 7.30 will be devoted to addresses by former rectors, and the Bishops.

A full report of the proceedings with a historical sketch, and an excellent cut of the Church property will appear in next week's COLUMBIAN. Persons desiring extra copies should order them before Wednesday.

A DOUBLE EXECUTION.

HARRIS BLANK AND ISAAC ROSENWEIG HANGED AT TUNKHANNOCK.

A large number of people gathered at the country town of Tunkhannock last week Thursday morning to witness the execution of Harris Blank and Isaac Rosenweig, who murdered Jacob Marks on Dutch Mountain, March 18, 1892. The crowd began to gather around the jail at 9.30 and at 11 o'clock about four thousand people were admitted by Sheriff Knapp to the jailyard, where the scaffold was in readiness.

Three friends of the condemned men were permitted to have a short interview with them, and told them to obey the officers and die like men. About 11.36 Blank, escorted by Sheriff Knapp, closely followed by Rosenweig, leaning on the arm of the Coroner, Dr. E. B. Biddleman, came slowly down the coridor of the jail.

At 11.39 they reached the scaffold, and when given an opportunity to speak only said: "goodbye, gentlemen." The nooses were adjusted, the blackcaps drawn, and at 11.40 the drop fell. There was a slight muscular tremor for a moment or two, then all was quiet. The physicians pronounced Rosenweig dead at 11.55. Blank's heart fluttering faintly for three seconds longer.

The necks of both men were broken by the fall. The bodies were cut down at noon and given in charge of friends, by whom they were taken to Wilkesbarre for burial.

Sheriff Knapp was complimented on all sides for the skilfull and prompt manner in which he attended to all the details of the execution.

ROSENWEIG'S CONFESSION.

Rosenweig left a confession, which in brief is as follows:

"I am sorry for poor Blank. I wish I had never met him, then he would never got into this trouble. I dragged the poor sout into the affair; I am sorry for him. I have given Rabbi Adolphia Raddin, of New York, my statement, which will explain matters regarding me more fully. Don't mention to my family that I was hanged. Blank is innocent. I am guilty."

The crime for which Harris Blank and Isaac Rosenweig suffered the death pentalty was that of murdering Jacob Marks a young Hebrew peddler, on Dutch Mountain, in Wyoming county, on March 18, 1892.

Early in March young Marks started on one of his periodical trips through Wyoming and Sullivan counties with a large stock of clothing, notions and jewelry. He had a good horse and wagon and was well acquainted with the route. For four weeks nothing was heard of him by his brother in Towanda, and the latter began to feel anxious, for the young man had said that he would surely return home in time to participate in the celebration of the passover.

Finally public announcement was made of the young man's unaccountable absence, and several parties, headed by detectives, searched the mountainous regions through which his route lay for some trace of Marks. One day it was learned that Marks had been seen, in company with two other peddlers, Blank and Rosenweig by name, driving up the lonely mountain road that leads up to Lopez. Nothing further could at that time be learned, and the officers, now fully convinced that Marks had been foully dealt with, searched the vicinity where he was last seen. After several days' work the searchers entered an old barn situated about five hundred yards from Wyoming and Sullivan county line. Here in an old barrel and covered with an old quilt, the dead body of Marks was discovered. Two bullet-holes were in the body.

For four months detectives worked on the case. The suspected peddlers were traced to Falls Station, few miles above Pittston. There trace of them was lost. By following up a box of freight which the peddlers had shipped to an address in Hester street, New York, the metropolitan detectives gained a new clue, and several months afterward, by means of a telegraph sent by Blank to the Hester street address, asking that the box of freight be shipped to him, the peddlers were located in Montreal. This much known, the detectives changed the scene of operations to Canada, and one day, just as Blank and Rosenweig were preparing to board a steamer for South America, they were both taken into custody.

Sufficent evidence was found in clothing and jewelry upon their persons to convict them of the murder of Marks, even had not Rosenweig confessed that they were guilty. The only motive given for the crime was the desire for plunder.

The prisoners were extradited and in January last their trials took place separately in the Wyoming county Court House in Tunkhannock. Both were convicted and sentenced to be hanged. The executed men were Poles. They had been in this country but a few years. Blank leaves a wife and several children in Poland.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Crusade Commandery No. 12, Knights Templar of Bloomsburg was represented at Wilkesbarre on Tuesday by about twenty-five of its members, who participated in the grand parade, the occasion being the annual encampment of the Grand Commandery. The First Spike.

The first spike on the extension of the Williamsport & North Branch Railroad was driven Friday, at Satterfield, the junction with the S. L. & S. About a mile of track was laid Friday, and the work is to be continued, we understand, until the road is finished. A telegraph station has been established there, and the piles of ties, car loads of steel rails, and other paraphernalia appertaining to railway construction, give the place a busy appearance.—Dushore Review.

Rev. A. Houtz will deliver his second lecture on the Reformation as follows: On Sunday, May the 28, St. James at 10:15 a. m., Zion at 2 p. m., Orangeville at 7:30 p. m.; on Sunday, June 4, Briarcreek at 2:30 p. m., and on Sunday, June 18, Hidlay at 2:30 p. m. The Historical Tree chart of Christanity will be used. This lecture is intended to prepare the way for the Centennial Anniversary of the Reformed church in the U. S., which will be observed a few weeks later. All are invited.

At the last meeting of the M. E. Quarterly Conference a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions for the erection of the new church in Bloomsburg. For some time past the present building has been too small to accommodate the congregation or the Sunday school, and a larger edifice is greatly needed. The trees on the church lot, corner Market and Third streets have been cut down, and the lot is being levelled and it looks as though the efforts to raise the necessary funds will be successful.

The Normal boys beat the Wyoming Seminary nine last Saturday afternoon by a score of 19 to 9.

OUR LETTER FROM HARRISBURG.

What Has Been Done in the Legislature—Other News from the Capital.

HARRISBURG, May 24.

There is now some talk of extending this session of the legislature until June 15. Some of the lawmakers are of the opinion that this will have to be done in order to clear the calendars, although an effort will be made to clear up all the business on or before June 1. The time this week will be devoted principally to the consideration and passage of appropriation bills.

Mr. Bliss, of Delaware, has offered a resolution and it has been adopted inquiring of the attorney general what action can be taken by the state government to prevent the construction of a railway upon the battlefield of Gettysburg. The bill amending the bank examiner law was called up, but opposition developed and it was placed on the postponed calendar.

The senate bill conferring upon street passenger railways and traction motor companies the power to carry the mails has been amended to allow electric companies to carry also such merchandise as is usually carried by express companies.

When the house bill fixing the salaries and compensation of state officers came up for third reading on a special order Mr. Woods succeeded in having the Butterfield bill, with a few changes, adopted as a substitute. The changes from existing salaries in the more important offices are the following: Lieutenant governor, $4,000, an increase of $1,000; attorney general, $8,000, increase $4,500; secretary of the commonwealth $8,000, increase $4,000; auditor general, $4,000, increase $1,000; secretary of internal affairs, $4,000, increase $3,000; adjutant general, $8,500, increase $1,000; state treasurer, $6,000, increase $1,000; superintendent of public instruction, $4,000, increase $1,500; insurance commissioner, $4,000, increase $1,000; factory inspector, $2,000, increase, $500; superintendent of public printing $2,400, increase, $400; private secretary to the governor, $2,000, increase, $100; deputy secretary of the commonwealth, $3,000, increase, $500; deputy attorney general, $4,000, increase, $1,500; chief clerks of the auditor general's department, $2,500, increase, $700; corporation clerk, same department, $2,400, increase, $600; chief clerk of treasury department, $2,500, increase, $500; chief clerk of department of internal affairs (new office), $2,000; chief clerk of adjutant general's department, $2,000, increase, $200; superintendent of public buildings and grounds, $1,800, increase, $200.

Among the appointments sent in by the governor were the following: W. Hayes Grier, superintendent of public printing and binding for the term of four years to commence July 1, 1892; John H. Snyder, Middletown, Dauphin county, to be justice of the peace; Edgar L. King, Harrisburg, to be notary public. Notaries and justices were confirmed.

The house bill appropriating $50,000 to the Wernersville State Asylum for Chronic Insane has been reported negatively in the senate. The McCarrell bill increasing the salary of judges in districts having more than 60,000 population was defeated—yeas, 15; nays, 11. The bill authorizing the courts to extend the amount of property which may be held by religious, education or charitable associations has also been defeated.

In the house, the senate bill providing for a board of seven prison inspectors was reported affirmatively. The bill giving the University Veterinary hospital $5,000 for maintenance was reported affirmatively, but the bill giving the same hospital $25,000 for an additional hospital, was reported negatively.

The Penrose bill abolishing the public building commission came up on third reading and was passed by a vote of 120 to 67, and goes back to the senate for concurrence in amendments. A message was received from the governor vetoing the bill allowing aldermen, magistrates and justices of the peace fees for affidavits of claim tax and copies thereof, and also authorizing them to tax certain additional costs.

Appropriation bills passed finally as follows:

For current expenses of the state board of health; for expenses of appropriation committee; to the Midnight mission of Philadelphia; to Morganza reform school; to Pennsylvania institution for deaf and dumb; for care of indigent insane; Williamsport home for the friendless; Williamsport hospital; to Memorial hospital, Philadelphia; Philadelphia orthopedic hospital; State hospital at Mercer; Conemaugh Valley memorial hospital; Philadelphia society for organizing charity; Women's homœopathic association of Philadelphia; Wilkes-Barre city hospital; Lebanon Good Samaritan hospital; Philadelphia-Kensington hospital for women; Pittston hospital; Pottsville children's home.

Governor Pattison sent in a message vetoing an act providing for the more effectual protection of the public health in cities and boroughs. The house sustained the governor's veto by 66 to 40.

The house has adopted the resolution providing for a commission to investigate the various insane hospitals and penitentiaries in this state.

HARRISBURG, May 24.—At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while in the operating chair at the Albany dental rooms, Mrs. Sarah Radel suddenly expired. Dr. Dashiell had administered gas, as on previous occasions when Mrs. Radel was under treatment, without serious effect. Yesterday afternoon, after he had extracted a couple of teeth, he observed the patient's sinking condition and tried to revive her without success.

Mrs. Radel was about 40 years old. Her home is in Powell's Valley, near Halifax. Her sister was with her when she died, and she said she had never known Mrs. Radel to have any heart trouble.

HARRISBURG, May 24.—The following charters were issued yesterday: Central Market Company, of Erie, capital $100,000; Crafton Land Company, of Allegheny county, capital $50,000; Mt. Pleasant and Hommondsville Electric Street Railway Company, of Fayette county, capital $18,000.

HARRISBURG, May 22. — The Market street bridge here caught fire from some unknown cause late yesterday afternoon, and before the firemen succeeded in getting the flames under control the structure was damaged to the extent of about $1,000.

HARRISBURG, May 19.—The Thornburg Stone Company, of Delaware county, capital, $20,000; Big Meadows National Gas Company, of Lawrence county, capital, $10,000, were chartered yesterday.

Michigan Forests Ablaze.

CADILLAC, Mich., May 22.—Terrible forest fires are raging all around here. The saw mill of Edward Margeridge, four miles south of here, was burned Saturday. The lumber camp of Louis Sands near Lake City was also burned and four men were burned to death. Eight others are missing. The horses were all burned and the camp totally destroyed. A farm house near Tustin was destroyed and the farmer, his wife and two children lost their lives.

PITTSBURG'S BIG HAIL STORM.

The Wire Service Still Crippled—All the Latest Particulars.

PITTSBURG, May 22.—It seems almost miraculous that a number of lives were not lost by the furious hail storm of Saturday evening. It was the most terrible storm this city has ever experienced. Reports from many points show that the hail did immense damage. The telephone and telegraph service of this city is still demoralized.

In the east end of Pittsburg and upwards of Allegheny City, nearly every window glass on the south sides of the buildings was shattered while all over both cities, skylights, green-houses, private and park conservatories were shattered and foliage ruined. In the Phipps conservatory in Schenley Park, over 9,000 lights of glass were broken.

The descending floods of rain did for the Fifth avenue traction line what the hail did for the Pleasant Valley, flooding its tracks in places three feet deep in a few moments, washing cars off the track enroute, tearing up the roadbed, and burying it several feet under sand and mud.

This occurred in the Soho and East End districts. The Duquesne line escaped a little better. Estimates of the extent of the losses vary, many points not having been heard from, but some judges place it as high as $1,000,000.

J. W. C. Dell, of John R. & A. Murdock, nurserymen, etc., states that the loss to the Schenley park and Allegheny park conservatories, together with that to the private greenhouses and conservatories here, will alone amount to over $800,000. He says that it will ruin some of the men engaged in that business. One such says that he will be forced to go out of the business, having lost his plants as well as glass.

Entertainments were in progress at all theaters. At the opera house and Bijou theater serious panics were narrowly averted and several women fainted from fright.

The stinging pelting of the hail caused a number of serious accidents by frenzied horses that broke away from their drivers.

HOUSE TO LET.

"We have got to move!" sighed Selina Spencer. The wind rustled in the leafless poplar trees, the muslin curtains flapped in the draught. Old Dorcas, the colored servant, went on sprinkling the pillow cases on the pine table in the corner.

"I've seen it coming this long time," said Selina. "The landlord has been as good and considerate as possible——"

"De lan'lord's an old harpy!" said Dorcas. "Lan'lords allays is!"

"No, he is not," persisted Selina. "We owe him eight months' rent already, and I do not know how he is ever to get his money. I would offer him the piano and the carved rosewood parlor set, if I thought they would possess any value in his eyes—in part payment, I mean."

Dorcas rolled up the coffee-colored whites of her eyes.

"Dat piano as was Miss Adelaide's when firs' she come from Baltimo' boarding school!" said she. "Dat lubly furnchure as was made to order in Annap'lis! No, Miss Lina—not wiv dis chile's consent!"

And she rolled a thin old damask tablecloth very tightly and packed it into the basket with emphasis.

"Mamma must know nothing of this, Dorcas," said Selina, sadly.

"Dunno how you'se gwine to keep it from her, Miss Lina."

"It can be done, Dorcas. I've thought it all out," said the girl. "She must be made to suppose that she is going to spend a few days with my employers at Newport——"

"Has dey done asked her, Miss Lina?"

"No, you goose! I don't suppose that they even know that I've got a mother. I am only a typewriter and stenographer in their eyes, and render my services at so much a day. Mrs. Plinlimmon is known all through New York as a female philanthropist, but while she's helping poor immigrants out of the slums and rectifying the slop shop question, she don't appreciate that a well-dressed Southern lady may be in sore straits. But she'll make as good a figurehead as any other."

"Miss Lina," said Dorcas, after a brief silence, during which she rolled and sprinkled, patted and folded with unceasing vigilance.

"Well?"

"I knows whar I could git $4 a week for laundress, or $5 for cook. Tink o' dat, Miss Lina."

"Do you want to leave us, Dorcas?"

The old woman uttered a subdued groan. "Lord knows it's honor enough to work for de ole Spencers! But it's money we uns wants—an' ebery cent o' de ole woman's wages, dey'll come back to ole Missus and Miss Lina."

The long lashes dropped over Selina Spencer's lovely hazel eyes. "It's of no use, Dorcas," said she. "We've got to bend before the storm. Hush! Do you hear that tapping?"

"Somebody knocking at de do'!" cried Dorcas. "Why on arf don' dey ring de bell?"

"No," Selina, detaining her as she was about to answer the supposed summons. "It's the agent putting up the 'To Let.' But, whatever happens, Dorcas, don't let mamma know!"

She rose, and getting up her hat and gloves, went up the wide, gloomy old staircase. Dorcas looked after her and shook her turbaned head.

"Meks b'lieve she's pow'ful brave!" muttered she. "Tinks old Dorcas dunno she's crying dis berry minute! Why didn't she marry Mars George Berkeley when he axed her an' sabe herse'f all this trouble?"

Up in the dimly lighted sitting room Mrs. Spencer sat, a faded belle of the olden days. The piano was open, the window was full of carefully tended plants; a pink-shaded lamp burned on the table, and Mrs. Spencer herself was engaged in crewel work, with slow, languid fingers.

"You are later than usual to-night, Selina," said she, fretfully. "Perhaps your idea of a dutiful daughter is different from mine, but I think any amount of Shakespeare and Browning classes oughtn't to take so much of your time away from your mother."

"I stopped to give Dorcas orders in the kitchen, mamma," Selina cheerfully answered. "But I'm all ready now. What shall I read to you until the tea comes up?"

"Well," said the poor lady, feebly, "I'd like a few chapters of the 'Scottish Chiefs.' It was the first novel my dear papa ever allowed me to read—and in my opinion your Ouidas and Braddons don't come near it."

And, while Selina read out the trials of Helen Mar and Bruce the brave, she wondered how on earth she should manage about showing the house to the eager sightseers who would be sure to be attracted by the legend "To Let" on the morrow.

"Can't go in dat ar room!" said Dorcas, interposing her stout figure between the hard-featured house-hunter and the door of Mrs. Spencer's boudoir. "Dat's private, dat ar!"

"Anything wrong in the room?" sharply questioned the woman.

"No'm," stolidly responded Dorcas.

"Ceilings cracked? Water-pipes burst?"

"No'm."

"Then why can't I see it?" with a sudden push in that direction.

She might as well have attempted to charge a battery of artillery. Old Dorcas stood immovable.

"Lady ain't well, mum," said she. "Can't nobody go in dat room! Tole you so afore!"

"Anything contagious?"

"No'm."

"Sure?"

"Yes'm, sartin shuah!"

"Very well," said the house-hunter, with a forward jerk of her chin. "I shall take no house that I can't see every inch of!" and she flounced out.

All day long Dorcas fought the army of investigators valiantly, and at night as she herself observed, "she was jes' as tired as if she'd done a double day' w sh." Stout ladies peered into the sub-cellar and denounced the drainage; lean ladies poked their parasols into the kitchen sink and tore off strips of the hall paper. Deep-voiced men parleyed as to the monthly rental; fat old gentlemen asked questions in husky accents.

"I shall go crazy," said Dorcas.

The next morning, however, dove-winged Peace once more settled on the field of action. The agent came up and removed the bill.

"The house is taken," said he.

"Who's took it?" demanded Dorcas, who chanced just then to be scouring the brasses. But the agent either did not know or would not tell. Dorcas heaved a deep sigh. "Den," says she, "we've got to cl'ar out."

The landlord sent Selina a polite note in a day or two. He had concluded, he wrote, to accept her offer of the furniture and belongings as an equivalent for a certain portion of the unpaid rent.

"Now," said Dorcas, "what is we to do?"

Poor Mrs. Spencer was all in a flutter. The Newport scheme delighted her, and she was very busy looking over her wardrobe with reference to the coming visit. Selina had written to the aunt of an old schoolmate of hers, who kept a boarding-house in the fair seaside city, asking her lowest price for a comfortable room. Dorcas was to go with Mrs. Spencer as attendant and maid, and Selina had resolved to hire a room in New York and board herself as well as she could.

"But this has been a dear old home," she murmured. "I wonder who will sleep in my room. I wonder whose hands will strike the yellow keys of mamma's old piano, and dust my flowing blue china, and arrange the old fiddle-backed chairs."

The purple sunlight shone softly in; the scent of a stalk of hyacinths in a glass on the mantel brought back reminiscences of the old Southern flower gardens, and all of a sudden a voice which she had last heard in those very gardens struck on her ear.

"Selina—have I startled you?"

"Mr. Berkeley!"

He extended a cordial hand.

"Perhaps you fancied I could not trace you out?" said he. "But I am better at hide and seek than you thought."

She courtesied haughtily. His handsome countenance fell. Evidently he was deeply disappointed.

"Are you not glad to see me, Selina?" he exclaimed. "Ah, Selina! I had counted so much on this interview! I had planned to renew my suit—to ask you once more to be my wife."

She drew her slight figure up.

"You are presuming too much on my very evident poverty, Mr. Berkeley," said she. "I refused you when I was Miss Spencer, of Spencer Vale. What sort of a woman should I be if I were now to accept you—simply as a protection against adversity?"

"But, Selina——"

"Pray, excuse me from any further discussion of the question," said Selina.

"May I not hope to see your mother?" he persisted.

"I should prefer not."

"Do you know, Selina," he said, after a brief silence, "that this is a very bitter mortification to me?"

"Is it? Then what must it be to me?" she retorted, almost fiercely, looking up at him.

He stood a second or two gazing sadly at her. Stung by the scrutiny, she swept from the room like an angered princess.

Half a minute later she came hurrying back, full of sweet, strange misgivings. But he was gone.

"I have let another opportunity slip by!" she murmured. "Oh, heavens! where is my life drifting to?"

At that moment Aunt Dorcas ushered in the landlord, a fussy, bald-headed old gentleman, with a fur collar to his coat.

"Good evening, Miss Spencer," said he. "I expected to meet the new party here."

"The—I beg your pardon," said Selina.

"The gentleman who has purchased this house and furniture," explained Mr. Beasley, "and settled it on yourself and your mother. A friend of yours, I suppose—Mr. Berkeley."

Standing sadly in the shadow of the rustling poplar boughs outside, George Berkeley felt the magnetic influence of another presence. A soft voice stirred the twilight air, like the far-off music of forgotten days.

"Mr. Berkeley," it said—"George!—please will you forgive me?"

A dead silence ensued.

"Won't you, George?" with a little sob in the voice. "I—I don't mean to speak so harshly to you. I didn't know then what I know now of your noble generosity."

Silence—only silence still.

"If I accept it for dear mamma's sake, you surely will not misinterpret me. Oh, George! how can you be so cruel? Why don't you answer me? What are you waiting for me to say?"

And still no word broke that haunting silence!

"George," in a low voice, "I've changed my mind. I will be your wife!"

He took her in his arms.

"Dear sweetheart!" he murmured. "Dear little melting snow wreath, I knew that love would conquer you at last!"

When Mrs. Spencer heard of the engagement she said quietly:

"I always thought they cared for each other, but since your master died, Dorcas, my poor head has scarcely been itself; but make haste and finish the packing. We are going to Newport, are we not?"

And so the wedding trip was to Newport.—Toronto Mail.

What the superior man seeks is in himself; what the small man seeks is in others.—Confucius.

The Case Of The Chinese.

The Geary law, so called from Congressman GEARY, of California, a Democrat, who championed it, was enacted ostensibly to prevent further importation of chinese contract laborers.

As a means to this end, and in view of the ease with which Chinamen are smuggled into the country, the law provided that all who were in the country before the law was enacted must become registered before the 5th of May, 1893. Each Chinaman who registered was required to have his own declaration supported by that of a Caucasian witness to the effect that he knew the Chinaman to have been in the country before the passage of the law. It was also required that each Chinaman registered should be photographed as a means of identification. Any Chinaman not so registered is to be assumed to be a contract labrorer brought into the country since the enactment of the law and must be sent back to China, but may be imprisoned at hard labor for one year previous to deportation.

It was contended that these hard and peculiar conditions, which are applied to no other class of aliens, were unconstitutional, and further that they were in violation of treaty stipulations with China by which citizens of that country were to have in this country the same rights as other foreigners, and, reciprocally, American citizens in China were not to be subjected to a hostil discrimination not applied to other foreigners.

The Supreme Court has decided that the Geary law does not transcend the constitutional power of Congress in the premises. The Justices who join in this decision say nothing of the merits of the law. Probably on this point they do not disagree with the dissenting Justices. The constitutional point is settled, but that the act is nevertheless an infraction of the treaty between the two nations is clear. It was meant to be this by its advocates. The privileges existing under the treaty were the very things the law was intended to nullify.

The practical questions now relate to what will happen. First, as regards the Chinese in this country, less than 5,000 of the more than 100,000 have complied with the law. Manifestly the law cannot be enforced immediately upon all the delinquents. To attempt to do it would monopolize the time of the courts and of the Treasury Department for an indefinite period. Convictions would fill the prisons of many States and it would be a long time before all could be returned to China. The expense of thse proceedings would be enormous, while the amount in the Treasury available for the purpose is only about $50,000. The danger is that the hoodlums in some States will take privilege of the virtually outlawed status of this people to wreak upon them a terrible persecution degrading the good name of the nation and scandalous to humanity.

In the next place, the abrogation of the treaty with China thus summarily and offensively effected releases China from any obligations established by it in respect to Americans resident there, what ever their business or their condition. The Government of China has been scrupulously careful heretofore to abide by the treaty, and more effectually than our Government has restrained and repressed popular prejudices against foreigners as violent as any existing here. The forbearance of Chinese Government in the face of provocation has exemplary. But we have been fully warned that it could not be expected to survive the enforcement of the Geary law. Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Swallowed a Lemon Seed.

THE GERM SPROUTS IN A MAN'S STOMACH AND CAUSES HIS DEATH.

A strange case is puzzling medical practitioners of Trimble, Tenn., and the most prominent of the fraternity from Memphis and Nashville. John Henry Leake, a stalwart negro living on the plantation of R. L. Strong, a week or two since ate a lemon and swallowed one of the seeds, which, it seems, lodged in his stomach, and, attracting to it a certain proportion of the food subsequently eaten by the negro, was soon surrounded by a clot or mass of matter which gradually grew larger. After a short time Leake began to suffer with acute pains in the region of the stomach and applied to a physician, who diagnosed his trouble as indigestion and proceeded to treat him for it.

But the pains increased and it soon became a matter of impossibility for the sufferer to retain any food except such as was administered in a liquid form, and the doctor began to suspect that the cause of the trouble lay beyond the ordinary phases of indigestion, and declared an operation necessary. It was with a great deal of difficulty that Leake was prevailed on to submit to this, but he finally consented.

The surgeons thoroughly explored the abdomen and intestines, but without finding any disturbing object, though it was observed that the stomach was distended to nearly twice its normal size. Leake finally died in great agony, with repeated efforts to vomit, which continued until death ensued. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that the seed had sprouted from the mass surrounding it, and, putting out shoots, had actually attacked the walls of the stomach as a creeping plant does a wall.

CANNOT GET THE EXTRA DOLLAR.

No Extra Pay for Presiding Officers of the Legislature.

HARRISBURG, May 24.—State Treasurer Morrison, in hunting around for the law regulating the pay and mileage of legislators, found no warrant for the payment to the presiding officers of both houses of an extra dollar per day, as has been the custom for years.

He consulted the attorney general, and the latter, on examining the law on the subject, decides that the presiding officers are to be paid the same as any other member of either house—$1,500 per session. The decision is not pleasant to the presiding officers, as it cuts them out of about $150 each.

TERMS:—Inside the county, $1.00 a year in advance; $1.50 if not paid in advance Outside the county, $1.25 a year, strictly in advance.

All communications should be addressed to THE COLUMBIAN, Bloomsburg, Pa.

FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1893.

The Penrose bill which abolishes the Building Committee in Philadelphia, passed finally in the House last Thursday. Representatives Fritz and Tewksbury both voted for the bill. This bill met with opposition from the Commission and their friends, while the Mayor, Councils and all the newspapers in the city demanded its passage. For twenty years or more the Commission has had charge of the erection of the Public Buildings, and extravagance and mismanagement were the grounds on which the repeal of the law creating the Commission was demanded.

WHAT THEY MEANT.

TO THE COLUMBIAN:

When the people of the United States elected Mr. Cleveland to be President and turned out Mr. Harrison, they did not mean to stop at that. Mr. Harrison was the representative of his race, he was the only person whom they could reach, but they included in their thoughts all those who held by him, and their intention was to dispose summarily of the whole batch.

The civil service reform in which they believed, was that which promptly put into power persons who believed as they did, and they had no sentimentality about the question whether Mr. Harrison's appointee had held the office for four years or four days, the ax was to be applied without discrimination and without mercy.

In the exercise of his official duty, Mr. Cleveland may well defend himself, if any defense be needed, in going slow in making his appointments, for his appointees fill important positions; but when the right man is found, then find him the office at the earliest moment, and dont shillyshally about civil service rules. War to the knife and the knife to the hilt is the true doctrine.

There is no doubt in my mind but that Mr Cleveland will leave his party stronger at the end of his present term than he found it. I trust his judgment upon the general public policy of his administration implicitly; but upon some of the details, the people need to be had in remembrance. And in the present aspect of affairs, we, the democrats, are the people. No administration can be carried on with thorough efficiency, unless the personel are thoroughly in accord. The policy must be carried out with promptness and vigor. No rules are good rules which interfere with the working policy of the party in power, and no republican can be depended upon to further democratic ideas upon that subject. Wherefore, the sooner the whole working force is brought into accord and harmony the more vigorous, harmonious and satisfactory will be the work. It will have been seen that I am not in favor of that kind of civil service reform that keeps republicans in office and democrats out.

It is therefore very gratifying to me to observe that Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet officers are each and all plying the ax with considerable vigor, and that heads and abuses go down together. In this matter the present administration is more determined than was that of 1884; and the real, private views of Mr. Cleveland may be certainly ascertained by the fact that his wide open eyes see the work go on, and still go on. They are all no doubt of one mind, but Judge Lochren voices the sentiment that no man but a democrat can be depended upon to carry out effectually pension reform, and he is putting his department in order accordingly.

The country will applaud all this—for the people have said, when the people turned out Mr. Harrison, they meant to turn out the whole crew. The ship of state was to be remanned, and not only to have a new Commander. Say what you please about it, except the judiciary, all offices are political, and should go with their party. I have no patience with the political party which can't take its thrashing like a man, but howls like a whipped spaniel over the loss of its bone.

Messrs. at Washington, you will have the respect of both parties, if, in giving us a thoroughly democratic administration, you will at the same time, and as soon as possible, give us a thoroughly democratic set of men to do the work.

Yours very truly,

JOHN G. FREEZE.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, May, 22 1893.

President Cleveland ardently believes in maintaining the dignity which he thinks belongs to the President of the United States, and in accordance with that belief he declined most positively to agree to the suggestion of the Spanish minister that he should follow European etiquette and return in person the official visit which the Spanish Infanta paid him on Saturday. American etiquette is good enough for him and also for the Infanta Eulalie, if her smiling and handsome face is an index of her feelings. The Infanta was met at the depot by Secretary Gresham, who as the President's personal representative welcomed the nation's guest and her party and conducted them under escort of two troops of U. S. Cavalry to the elegant quarters which had been prepared for them. Mrs. Cleveland and the cabinet ladies returned the call which the Infanta and her party paid to the White House, and tomorrow evening the President and Mrs. Cleveland will give a state dinner at the White House in her honor, which will probably be Mrs. Cleveland's last public appearance until after the interesting event which is expected in July. This week Princess Eulalie will go to New York, and from there direct to the World's Fair. The Infanta comes to America as the personal and official representative of the Queen Regent of Spain, who was invited by Congress to visit the United States during the Columbian Exposition. The Infanta apparently has none of the top loftical notions which the Spanish minister has so industriously been trying for several weeks to make Washington people believe were inseparable from Spanish royalty. On the contrary she appears to be a very sensible little woman, and she distinctly says that she wishes to be entertained in American style. She met many old friends here, among them Reverend Dr. Curry, who was Minister to Spain during the first Cleveland administration, and his estimable wife whom the Princess met with an affectionate kiss on each cheek, as is the custom in Spain among relatives and close friends.

"It seems a little queer," said one of a group of democrats who were discussing the appointment of a new public printer, which is now daily looked for, "that the South has only put forward one candidate for this position, which is, in my estimation, the most important place below the cabinet under the government, and which has never, I believe, been filled by a southern man." It is queer, but it is the fact, and if Mr. John P. Murphy of Knoxville, Tenn., the sole southern candidate, was as strongly backed by Congressman from the other southern states as he is by those from his own state he would probably secure the prize. There are a score of candidates from other sections, but it has leaked out that President Cleveland has been making inquiries about men who are not candidates at all, and that has prevented the friends of any of them feeling over confident. The term of the present public printer expired on the 13th instant.

If there are any sinecures attached to the Washington Navy Yard, which is in reality no longer a Navy Yard, but a gun shop, they have got to go. Secretary Herbert has requested the commandant to report at once whether any position or positions now filled can be dispensed with, and whether any person now employed is incompetent or inefficient from any cause whatever. A similar request will probably be made of the commandants at all the government navy yards.

There is to be a big discharge at the end of the present fiscal year from the General Land Office owing to the cut made in the appropriation by Congress. Sixty-eight clerks in the classified service and thirty nine special agents will sever their connection with Uncle Sam's business on the 30th of June, unless they can before that time get transferred to some other branch of the service. In order to avoid the pressure by the friends of the clerks in that bureau it has been decided that the dismissals shall be made solely on the records of the clerks.

Secretary Herbert has deprived the Nicaragua Canal Co. of its chief engineer by ordering Civil Engineer Menocal, who has been working for the Canal Co. for about four years, to return to duty.

The demand for gold for export has again brought the gold reserve fund very near to the $100,000,000 mark, but no uneasiness is felt by Sec. Carlisle as offers of gold are still freely coming in.

After considering the matter from every point of view the cabinet came to the conclusion that the best thing the government could do in connection with the vexed Chinese question is to devote the money now on hand and that to become available July 1, to strictly enforcing the provisions of the act of 1884, leaving Congress to say what shall be done with the Geary act.

The breaking up of the winter is the sign for the breaking up of the system. Nature is opening up the pores and throwing off refuse. De Witts's Sarsaparilla is of unquestionable assistance in this operation. W. S. Rishton, Druggist. 10-14-1yr.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held in the City Hall Monday evening with all the members present but Peacock. Henry Humphrey, building inspector, reported that he had examined the alterations proposed to be made by B. F. Sharpless at the old foundry on Center and Sixth streets and that Mr. Sharpless intends converting it into four dwelling houses with the water closets on the second floor, with proper ventilation. That the cellars were well ventilated and the walls of sufficient strength to sustain the building. Upon motion the report was accepted and Sharpless was granted four sewer permits.

The following ordinances were read and upon motiton accepted and ordered to be published:

Ordinance No. 69, to re enact the resolutions in regard to the grade, and to regulate the laying of pavements in said town

Ordinance No. 70, provided for the appointment of a building inspector in the Town of Bloomsburg.

Ordinance No. 71, to open Sterner alley from Jefferson street to the B. & S. Railroad.

Ordinance No. 72, to lay out and open an alley running north from First St between properties of Mrs. N. S. Walker and Wm. Chrisman and to be known as Chrisman alley.

Ordinance No. 73, to open and lay out a street from the northern terminus of Chrisman alley to land of Mrs. A. Z. Schoch and to be known as William St.

A petition was received from citizens asking for grade on fifth street between Jefferson and the B. & S. R R. Upon motion the town engineer was instructed to give them grade, the pavement to be laid in 20 days after the publication of Ordinance No. 69.

The street commissioner was authorized to notify F. M. Leader to raise the pavement in front of his property on Market street.

The following building permits were granted: To Susan Bell for a two story double frame house on Fourth street near the Fair grounds; to C. A. Kleim for a two story kitchen on Third street to Mrs. Pursel for a house at the rear of Market street.

The bill of W. O. Holmes for putting in sewer amounting to $296 18 was accepted and an order drawn for that amount.

On motion adjourned.

Miserable and Dull

Dyspepsia, the Blues, Headache, Pain in the Back, Etc.

"I must say a word about Hood's Sarsaparilla for it has made me feel like another man. I was miserable and dull all the time; had the blues, could not enjoy the least fun; felt sick all over and often thought I would soon die. I did not know what to do. Could not sleep, eat or work with satisfaction. My stomach was so out of order that

I Often Wished I Was Dead.

I spent many a dollar for medicine, all for little, or I might say, no benefit. I saw and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla that I thought I would try it. The first bottle made a different feeling, so I kept on till I had taken three. The severe pain in my back, headache and distress in my stomach,—all traces of dyspepsia have and I can eat, sleep and work, and feel so much better than I used to, that I cannot thank Hood's Sarsaparilla enough. I earnestly recommend it as the best medicine for dyspepsia and distress in the stomach. I wish Hood's Sarsaparilla abundant success." JOHN STIELY, 746 Locust Street, Reading, Pa.

Pennsylvania People Benefitted.

MRS. CARRIE BOUTON GAINED IN FLESH 68 LBS. TO 121 1-2 LBS. BY THE USE OF A SIMPLE REMEDY.

MEN AND WOMEN INTERESTED.

"It is astonishing," said one of our physicians the other evening, "how many of the ordinary diseases people suffer from come from the one cause—excess of uric acid in the blood. To discover a medicine that would dissolve this acid has puzzled thousands of the best men of the medical profession, until Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., produced what is known the world over as Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. The great value we place in Favorite Remedy comes from the fact that it is the only medicine that will effectually dissolve this acid thus curing rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney, liver and urinary troubles and the sicknesses women suffer from. These and many more troubles all come from the one cause, as I said before, this death dealing uric acid."

Perhaps there has been no one person in Wyoming Co., Pa., that has suffered more than Mrs. Carrie Bouton, formerly of Schottville, but now of Harvey's Lake, Luzerne Co. Mrs. Bouton, in relating her restoration to health, said: "From a growing girl I suffered from female trouble or weakness peculiar to my sex. Several physicians prescribed for me but I found no relief. I was reduced in flesh down to 68 pounds. By accident I heard of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and determined to try it, and to my great joy I began to realize that I had found a medicine that was doing me good. I think I had used five bottles when I found that I weighed 121½ pounds and was better in health than I ever was before.

Inquiry among Mrs. Bouton's neighbors shows that she states nothing but the facts in regard to her case. Many other instances of the kind are widely talked of in Scottsville, Tunkhannock, Wilkesbarre and other places where Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has effected many cures after physicians had given up hope.

"But," says one of our prominent druggists, "Favorite Remedy is equally efficacious in other diseases, as talks with people I have sold Favorite Remedy to affirm. To my knowledge right in our town Favorite Remedy has cured people suffering from rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney, liver and urinary troubles."

Since the publication in one of the New York medical journals of the case of Mr. E. P. Tayer, of East Nassau, N. Y., Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has been increasing in sale. Mr. Tayer had suffered for fifteen years with inflammatory rheumatism. His case was practically abandoned by his physicians. Favorite Remedy was brought to his notice and in less than three months after its use he was a well man.

In commenting on this case Dr. W. H. Morse, of New York City, says: The great good in Favorite Remedy lies in its power to dissolve this deadly uric acid. In cases of dyspepsia, eczema, scrofula or any urinary diseases I have never known it to fail, when taken according to directions. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is not only used by physicians now but can be found on sale by every medicine dealer.—Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) Times.

The Pied Piper of Hamlin could find employment in Bloomsburg. Portions of the town are infested with rats, and the more you kill the more there seems to be. A systematic effort should be made to exterminate these pests. It is not right to simply use means to drive the rats to your neighbors but catch them and kill them. The best traps are the French wire traps, in which a dozen can be caught at one time. They ought not to be poisoned at this season of the year, as they die somewhere and cause unpleasant and unhealthy odors.

SAYS THE TREATMENT IS FEARFUL.

James McKevitt Tells of the Horrors of the British Prisons.

NEW YORK, May 23.—James McKevitt, an Irish prisoner, told of the horrors of British prisoners last evening. He spent eleven years and nine months in a Portland (England) prison, and came to this country on Friday. He spoke at the meeting of the delegates of the Irish National league, Ancient Order of Hibernians, St. Patrick's Alliance, Greenpoint Literary society and Irish independent party, who gather weekly at Odd Fellows' hall, Second street and the Bowery, to prepare for the demonstration on July 6.

He stated that the treatment given to Irish political prisoners was terrible. The American citizens who are confined felt rather sore that no efforts had been made in the United States for their liberation. Dr. Gallager, Devaney and Flanagan had been driven mad, and for breaking the rules while insane were constantly kept in punishment cells, on one meal of bread and water a day. John Daly was lying at death's door from being poisoned, and Gilbert and Bryne were nearly as bad.

Mr. J. J. Murphy said they would do without home rule a little longer to get these men out.

An informal reception was held in the afternoon. Last evening the formal opening of the congress took place at the hall of Columbus. There were five speeches of greeting and responses made by the presidents of a number of national and press organizations and by newspaper men from foreign lands.

Having sent this class out of the country, he would then turn his attention to the other and larger class—those who have failed to comply with the Geary law as to registration.

The New York Breaks the Record.

BOSTON, May 23.—With forward torpedo tubes buried deep in the sea and the water pushed almost as high as her forecastle, the armored cruiser New York steamed across the line yesterday, breaking the world's record and winning for her builders the largest premium ever paid in any country.

When twenty-one knots was predicted as the speed of the new cruiser many hoped, but few believed that her engines would ever be able to drive such an immense mass of steel through the water at this rate. When she crossed the line, however, with a speed of 21.09 knots through the water and some corrections to be added, the enthusiasm on board was intense.

OUR WORLD'S FAIR LETTER.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

CHICAGO, May 22, 1893.

The Exposition grounds are fast becoming a clean and handsomely adorned pleasure grounds The gardeners have done a great deal of night work this week, and the grounds are almost complete. There has been no rain all week and much work has been accomplished all over the grounds. By the first of the month there will be nothing left unfinished in the way of building and decorating.

This has been an interesting week at the fair. Many notable events have taken place. The women have held their Woman's Congress all the week in the Columbian Art Gallery down on the lake front. Many noted women have spoken, and the attendance has been unusually large. Modjeska and Clara Morris gave some very fine talks on stage life and its representatives. Never before in the history of woman's progress has there been such perfect harmony in the vast army of spectators as was apparent at the congresses held in the memorial art palace. Every space was crowded, but every body expected they would be and so they were good natured and stood the crowding.

Miss Susan B. Anthony spoke Thursday on the progress of women in the commercial and professional world since the time when Horace Greeley astounded the world of men by devoting column after column of the New York Tribune, to the first suffragist meeting held in Boston. Miss Anthony was followed by Lucy M. Stone, Helen H. Gardener and other noted women, on the suffrage question. To day is the last day of their congress.

There were quite a number of dedications this week. The Tyrolean booth in the Transportation building was dedicated on Monday. This quaint little booth is an exact representation of a Tyrolean home in the Alps and is formed of great stones and limbs of trees. A fine painting forty feet long stands at the back, and represents a Tyrolean village on a mountain side. It is very pretty.

Tuesday the Egyptian temple was dedicated. This is a very solemn affair, and but very little to it as we could see. There were four Egyptian girls dressed in their queer costumes sitting on a raised platform at the rear of the long dark hall. They never spoke a word all the time, but once in a while they would twang their instruments in a doleful manner. A number of men were lounging around on the platform and floor. These the manager told us were the high priests, and the girls were young priestesses. They were silently worshiping their gods. Wednesday the Norwegians dedicated their building. May 17th, is to them what our fourth of July is to us. It was on that day 1814, that they became independent of Denmark, and they chose to dedicate their building on that day although it was not near done. It was a grand sight to watch them marching toward their building. There were over five thousand Norwegians in the line.

Prof. Julius E. Olson of the University of Wisconsin delivered the principal address. His subject was "Our day of Independence." His eloquent words brought his hearers to their feet in loud applause. The program closed by singing Norwegian hymns.

The Illinois State building was dedicated on Thursday. The Governor of the state, the mayor of Chicago, and the president of the State Board of World's Fair Commissioners, with very elaborate ceremonies presented the building to the exposition authorities.

The Illinois State building as every one knows, is the largest state building on the grounds It stands facing the lagoon from the north. More than three thousand feet of space is allotted to this state. The building is in the form of a greek cross. The south arm contains the offices, while the north end is called the memorial hall, and contains the relics and battle flags loaned by the State Historical Society. The women of Illinois have done much to make the building beautiful. The Legislature appropriated the sum of $80,000 with which to make a collective exhibit of the work of Illinois women. A board of lady managers was organized and they, with their untiring efforts and ingenuity, have made as fine an exhibit of woman's work as there is on the grounds.

The North Dakota building was dedicated yesterday. This is a really beautiful little building. And here again the women have come to the front. The neat and tasty parlors show just what dear little house-wives those northern farmers have. Many fine pictures made of the grains and grasses that grow in the state adorn the walls, while specimens of the orn are arranged in pretty little cabinets around the room. The building was crowded yesterday to hear the speeches made by several noted men from North Dakota. The building is all done and ready for inspection.

"There is a salve for every wound," We refer to De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, cures burns, bruises, cuts, indolent sores, as a local application in the nostrils it cures catarrh, and always cures piles. W. S. Rishton, Druggist. 10-14-1yr.

HE LOVED good bread, pie, and pastry, but his stomach was delicate. SHE LOVED to cook, but was tired and sick of the taste and smell of lard. She bought Cottolene, (the new shortening) and THEY LOVED more than ever, because she made better food, and he could eat it without any unpleasant after effect. Now THEY ARE HAPPY in having found the BEST, and most healthful shortening ever made — COTTOLENE.

Legislative Doings.

Last Thursday was a busy day in the Legislature. Early in the evening the House received from the Governor two veto messages. The first vetoes the bill repealing so much of the act placing a premium on the destruction of wolves and wildcats as applies to Washington County be cause it is special legislation and, therefore, unconstitutional.

The second applies to the bill allowing Aldermen, Magistrates and Justices of the peace fees for affidavits of claim tax and copies thereof, and also authorizing them to tax certain additional costs. The Governor says: "This bill gives to Aldermen, Magistrates and Justices, in addition to what is now allowed by law, a fee of 25 cents for each affidavit filed and 25 cents for each copy thereof made by them. Such a charge may not be extravagant or out of the way for the work performed. But the act further adds the authority to tax such other costs as are now by law taxed upon the recovery of judgments in several courts of Common Pleas.' These costs would include the $3 attorney fees, and in the event of an appeal the judgment recovered in the court would include in the costs therein taxed an additional attorney fee of $3, or a cost of $6 for attorney's fee on judgment. Most of the claims upon which these costs would be taxed are small and the costs in many cases would be out of all proportion with the amount involved. Such an increase would be manifestly burdensome to the unfortunate. There is no demand for these increased costs upon debtors, and I am unwilling to approve this measure at a time when the better policy is in the direction of decreasing rather than increasing fees."

In the House Senator McCarrell's bill to provide for the payment of jurors compensation by the State was reported negatively from committee.

Senator Ross' bill providing for the government and regulation of county prisons by a board of seven inspectors was reported affirmatively.

The Appropriations Committee sent in bills as follows: State College, $68,000; Children's Hospital, Pittsburg, $4000; Home for the Friendless, Pittsburg, $4000; experimental station in Lancaster County for tobacco culture, $4000. The bill appropriating $5000 to the Veterinary Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania for maintenance was reported favorably, but the proposition to give the same hospital $25,000 for an additional building was negatived. The Senate bills amending the surety law so as to authorize certain corporations to become sole surety upon bonds, recognizances and obligations, stipulations and undertakings and authorizing certain officers to approve the same and relating to leases of lands and tenements, establishing the length of notice to surrender the possession of the leased property, which shall be required when the parties have not agreed upon the same and providing a remedy for the recovery of the possession thereof in such cases and also in cases in which the parties have agreed upon the length of notice were defeated.

The following Senate bills passed finally:—

Changing the salaries of certain officials in Schuylkill and Luzerne Counties; amending the act to settle title to real estate by designating the matter in which notices may be served; designating general election days, i. e., the third Tuesday of February and the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November of each year, as legal half holidays. from 12 o'clock noon, until midnight of such days, and providing for the payment, acceptance and protesting of bills, notes, drafts, checks and other negotiable papers on such days; regulating the fee to be charged for filing petitions for the adoption of minors and entering order of court thereon; authorizing cities to enter upon, take, use and appropriate private property for the construction of piers, abutments, hill, slopes and approaches for bridges crossing rivers within the corporate limits thereof, and providing the manner in which compensation shall be made; to enable tax collectors to collect taxes for the payment of which they have become personally liable without having collected the same; to enable boroughs not divided into wards for school purposes, to establish public high schools; extending the limits of residence and power of notaries public; extending the limitations of actions to a right to mine iron ore in lands where the same has not been exercised for a period of twenty one years.

The bill to prevent the pollution of inland waters and sources of domestic water supply came up as a special order on final passage at noon. Objection was made that the effect of the bill would be to place the sewage systems of every city, borough and town in the Commonwealth in the absolute control of the State Board of Health. The bill authorizing cities to purchase bridges already erected, or to erect and maintain bridges over streams and rivers which may separate portions of such cities, and providing for the condemnation of such land as may be necessary for piers, abutments, fills, slopes and approaches thereto, was amended on third reading so as to include boroughs.

At the afternoon session Mr. Bliss, of Delaware, introduced a bill appropriating $50,000 to enable the Governor to acquire and equip a State quarantine station for the port of Philadelphia.

The following Senate bills passed finally:—

Authorizing the election of chief burgess of boroughs for the term of three years, providing that such officer shall be a member of Town Council, giving him the power to veto ordinances and resolutions; providing for the election of a presiding officer of Council, and abolishing the office of assistant burgess; giving the State Board of Agriculture power to enforce the antioleomargarine law by the appointment of an agent of the board to be known as the Dairy and Food Commissioner.

"Only the Scars Remain,"

Says HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows:

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

Mother Urged Me

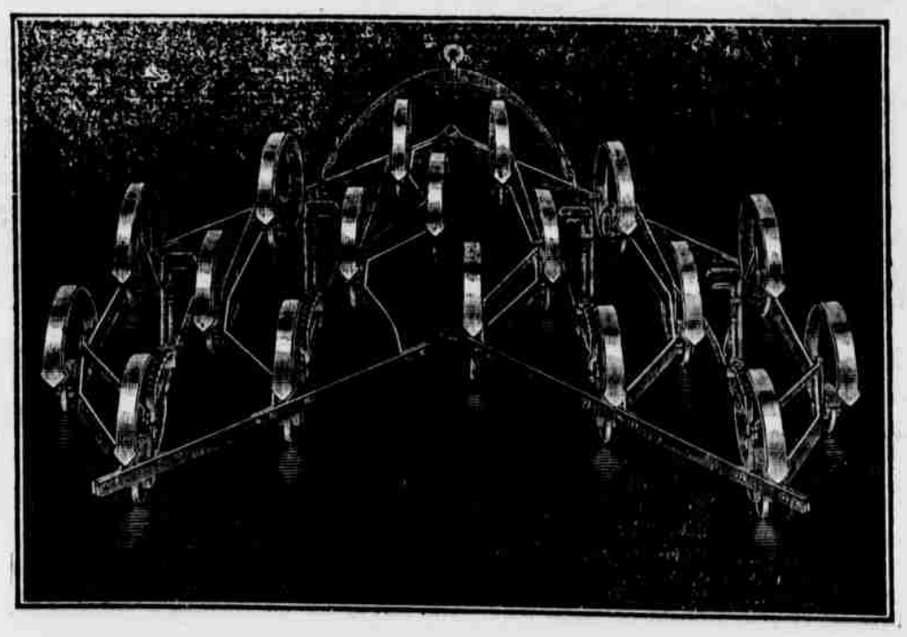
LOOK THIS WAY!



TO Farmers and the PUBLIC -in- General.

We wish to say that we are still manufacturing and dealing in Agricultural implements at Orangeville, Pa., and certainly from long experience we should know the wants of the Farmers and public in general. And, in this connection we wish to say that all machinery we manufacture or handle is equal to any on the market, and sold at lowest prices.

We make a good cast head Land Roller, which every Farmer should have. Also Plows, Scotch Harrows, Cultivators, Wood Saws, Corn Shellers, and Feed Cutters, and a specialty of Horse Power Threshing Machinery. Then we handle the 'Empire" Fertilizer, Grain Drill and Hay Rake, "Hench's" Walking and Riding wheel Cultivators, "Woods" Harvesting machinery (which needs no recommendation), single and double Corn Cultivators, Engines and Saw Mills etc. Lastly we wish to show up the New Deerfield Lever Harrow the only one that has a separate adjustment for each tooth independent of the levers. The only four lever Harrow on the market whereby the two centre sections can be let down in a dead furrow, or any one or more of the four sections can be raised and the balance of the teeth kept at work, frame at all times being level. It has a self coupling hinge, no bolts or pieces to lose, with circular steel evener to equalize draft while turning corners. This Harrow is no experiment with us, and will be put out on their merits same as any other goods.

We also make and carry a large stock of Plow repairs, also an endless variety of other implement repairs. We are also prepared to do almost any kind of saw or grist mill repairing (having recently put in new Iron Lathe and boring machinery etc. We also carry a full line of dressed building lumber. We appreciate the patronage of the public in the past and covet a continuance of the same in the future and will be glad to have any one call to see us, or answer their inquiries for anything in our line and will quote lowest prices.

WHITE & CONNER.
